UNION, THE CONSTITUTION AND THE LAWS—THE GUARDIANS OF OUR LIBERTIES.

Vol. XLVII. HILLSBOROUGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 26, 1868. No. 2453.

PRCPOSING BY LETTER.

BY SHIRLEY BROWNE.

Eleven o'clock—at least so said the golden tide of sunshine, creeping over the velvety turf of the village green and losing itself in the murmurous foliage of the maple trees; and so said the little clock in Judge Cornell's law office on the Main street, speaking in a sharp, melodious chime.

Harry Grover glanced quickly up at the uncompromising little dial, as he entered the domain of "Coke upon Littleton."

"I'm late this morning," he muttered, hanging up his hat behind the door; "but, as good luck will have it, the Judge has not made his appearance yet:"

He was a streight, handsome young fellow, with curly brown hair, limped hazel eyes, and a healthy flash on his sun browned cheeks, a young man whom you instinctively felt you could trust all entrance, as you looked into his frank, honest face. There are not many such; more's the pity!

"Whew—whew—whew!" whistled Mr. Harry Grover, turning over his pile of legal documents in a very unmethodical sort of way. "Law and love were never meant to go together; of that I am certain. "Pretty Ariel Browne's blue eyes are shining roguishly at me from every bit of parchment or printed blank I touch. How lovely she looked last night—and who would ever suppose that the old cat|with the false curls and grinning porcelain teeth, could be her aunt. Rich, too, they say; a good match for some desperate fortune hunter, who is willing to swallow the bitter old pill for the sake of the gold cottage. Let me see—talking about old Experience Browne, I believe I have a business letter to write her about that piece of land by the school house corner that she wants me to buy. Not I! When I purchase land for a building spot, it won't be a desolate pasture, where rocks and mullen stalks fight together to see which shall possess the staunch soil. The old lady must take me for a very unsophisticated character, indeed. I wonder, now, if blue eyed Ariel will ever be a wrinkled catamaran, clutching after bargains. Pooh! I should as soon think of a white plumed little dove being transformed into a greedy vulture.

He leaned back in his chair, with both hands clasped on the top of his curly head, and looked out abstractedly into the slushing village streets, humming an old tune under his breath—whose burden was "Love, still love."

Plainly, Mr. Harry Groves was very little disposed for work that morning. And when at twelve o'clock, Judge Cornell came in, there was but a hopeless chaos of papers on the table to represent his young partner's matutinal labors.

"Why, Grover, you haven't accomplished a thing this morning," said the old Judge, glancing keenly around through his antique silver band spectacles. "I am afraid that the pretty girls at Squire Dosthod's party last night were too much for your mental equilibrium."

Well, you see, sir, I've been rather sorting the papers over," said Harry, a little sheepishly, "and I've written two letters this morning."

"Two letters?"

"Yes, sir."

"May I ask to whom?"

"One was to old Miss Experience Browne, about that lot she wanted to sell me—a regular clipper, giving the old hag a piece of my mind—and the other—"

"The other—"

"Ahem—that wasn't exactly a business letter. Now, Judge, suppose you and I look over those ejectment papers together?"

The judge smiled slyly; he had an idea as to what the other letter contained. Every one in town knew how hopelessly Mr. Harry Grover was in love with pretty Ariel Browne. Judge Cornell had been young himself not so very many years ago.

"It's just as well for a lad to marry and settle down," thought the old gentleman, "and Ariel will certainly make as sweet a little wife as mortal could wish for!"

Harry needn't have been so mysterious, sealing and directing his two letters at the desk behind the office door.

Judge Cornell knew just as well what was in them as if he had read every word with his own eyes. But young people don't know anything!

Miss Ariel Brown sat in her room, busy with a complicated piece of bright colored web work that ladies call "crotchet," when Bridget tapped softly at the panels of the door.

"Please, Miss Ariel, a letter."

"A letter, and for me! Dear me, Bridget, who can it be from?

"Faix, then, and its mersell dosen't know, but Lawyer Gover's office boy brought it, and an impudent young spalpeen it is, for —"

But here Bridget became conscious that her young mistress was paying no attention to her and withdrew into her department, the kitchen, there to nurse here griefs in solitude.

Ariel's cheeks had turned as pink as the inside of a wild rosebud, as she read the superscription of the letter, and her heart perhaps a pulse or two faster than was its wont, but she broke open the missive with a resolute hand, and read:

MY DEAR MISS BROWNE: ["Rather cold beginning!" she pouted.] I must beg to decline all further negotiations with you. As you cannot for a moment seriously suppose I care to possess anything so utterly worn down and good for nothing, it is useless to waste either of our time in any more preliminaries.

I will call this afternoon and return to you the papers you so unnecessarily took the trouble to send me.

Yours very truly,

H. GROVE."

Ariel threw down the note and burst into tears.

"The cold hearted, presumptuous villian!" she sobbed. "Papers, indeed! suppose he means the note I wrote him about the pic-nic! Oh, how foolish I have been, how absured, and I am rightly punished for my folly!"

But still Ariel went on, when a girl of eighteen has built up a glittering castle in the air, whose foundations are laid in her own heart, she cannot see it dashed ruthlessly into ruins without a few natural tears.

Meanwhile, Miss Experience Brown, ætat fifty well repaid autumns, was reading with no little astonishment, the letter which Bridget's enemy, the post boy, had brought for her.

"Up—on my word!" exclaimed Miss Experience, slowly and emphatically.

"The impertinent young fortune hunting humbug! Does he suppose I'm a born fool, to swallow such a pack of sentimental flattery as this! "Lovely eyes—dimples!" If he'd had said spectacles and wrinkles, he'd have been considerably nearer right. No you don't, my fine fellow—no—you don't! Experience Browne hasn't lived fifty-five years in the world to fall into such a trap as this at last. "He'll call this afternoon to receive the answer that is to decide the whole current of his future life," will he! Well, let him call. I'll be ready for him, I'll warrant me he won't be in a hurry to call again."

And Miss Experience chuckled to herself until all the false curls quivered, as she folded the letter neatly and put it back into its hurriedly directed envelope.

"I never had an offer of marriage before," she thought, viewing her autumnal countenance in the pier glass, and adjusting the little puffs of ribbon in her cap border, "and it does make one feel kind of queer! It's something to tell of, anyway. Bethuar Jones needn't go to saying now that I was an old maid, because I had never had an offer! I just wonder what Ariel would say—I guess I won't tell her; she would only laugh at me!"

Miss Experience drew herself up as grimly as if her spinal column were a bar of iron, that afternoon, when Bridget announced:

"Mr. Grover, mem!"

"Show him in, Biddy—I am quite at leisure to receive him."

And our hero, entirely innocent of the impending storm that awaited him, walked into Miss Experience's awful presence, with a bundle deeds of title in his hand, tied with the official looking red tape of his profession.

"Good afternoon, Miss Experience!"

"Ain't you ashamed of yourself, Harry Grover?" ejaculated the spinster, in a deep stern voice. "Get along with yourself, makin' love to an old woman more'n twice as old as you be, just because she's got a little money! What do you take me for, hey? Dont stand staring there! Walk out of the room, quick; or I'll throw the big dictionary at your head! No, no, no! Now you have got your answer plain enough! I wouldn't marry you if there wasn't another man in the whole of the town?"

Harry Grover was a little appalled at this charge of horse and foot, but he stood his ground manfully, not even quailed at the big dictionary!

"But, Miss Browne—will you hear me a moment? I don't want you to marry me! What has put this strange fancy into your head?"

"You don't want to marry me? Then what the mischief does this letter mean, I'd like to know."

"May I look at it?"

Harry took the letter, and glanced at it. Its contents threw a new light on the unaccountable state of affairs.

"Good Cupid! what a blockhead,—what an unmitigated, unexcusable, incomparable donkey I have been! What could I have been thinking about?"

"Hey?" demanded the puzzled spinster.

"Excuse me, ma'am, but there has been a mistake—a—"

And without stopping to complete his fragmentary sentence, he rushed out of the room to the little bay window parlor, where Ariel usually sat.

"Well, I never!" exclaimed Miss Experience, as the door banged unceremoniously in her face.

"Ariel! Miss Browne!"

But Ariel turned haughtily from the pleading eyes of her lover.

"Your letter is quite sufficient, sir; I need no further exponent of your meaning."

"Ariel—darling—here has been an absurd mistake; this is the letter that was intended for you. The other was written to your aunt on business, and, by some unaccountable blunder, got into the wrong envelope! I have been a fool, a blockhead, but I love you, dearest, with all my heart! Ariel! you will not send me away!"

No—Ariel did not send him away for the shy smiles and the rosy bloom were beginning to come back to her face as she read the letter!

"But, Harry!" she said, with a roguish dimple at the corner of her mouth, you must confess that Aunt Experience's note had rather an unpleasant style."

"I was a careless reprobate," said Harry frankly, "but you see Judge Cornell was watching me, and—"

And that was the end of all misunderstanding between Harry Grover and Ariel Browne, thenceforth, forever more.

Miss Experience was rather disappointed in two things. She would like to have sold the school house "corner lot," and she would like to have said that once in the course of her fifty years of life, she had an offer of marriage.

"However," said Miss Experience, "Ariel is very happy, and may be things are best as they are!"

BLACKBERRIES.—We learn the house of E. A. Vogler, Esq., of this place, has shipped thus far, one thousand barrels of dried Blackberries, worth about $30,000.

The dried fruit trade will be rather limited,—not near as large as last year,—owing to a partial failure of the fruit crop.

A homesick dog lately traveled alone, and doubtless on foot, from Kentucky to Missouri, 900 miles, and reached his old kennel by instinct.

The Queen of England is on a visit to Switzerland and Italy. She was at Paris on the 5th, and lodged at the Tuilleries, at the invitation of the Empress Eugenie.

During this month no fewer than twelve policemen have been maimed or murdered n New York.

Cotton is grown in thirteen of the United States and one Territory.

THE CHINESE EMBASSY.—While at Auburn, New York, theChinese embassy went to witness the operations of some labor saving machines on a farm in the suburbs. A havesting machine, drawn by two horses, greatly interested them, and they followed it over the field, watching its motions very closely. One of them mounted the machine and took the reins, when the horse, not accustomed to the Mongolian style of handling the ribbons, started off with a trot, so that the ambassador had to use one hand to hold on to his seat. A mowing machine was also exhibited to them, and a thrashing machine, both of which they examined with much curiosity. After giving it a thorough scrutiny, two of them took hold and managed the thrashing machine as expertly as old farm hands.

Recently in Vicksburg there was a large Democratic procession in which were borne several United States flags, which, at the request of several citizens, had been loaned them by the post quartermaster. The parade of voters being large and impressive, alarmed the carpet-baggers, several of whom called on Gen. Gillem and complained that his officer had furnished flags to a procession which was "impeding reconstruction." "Gentlemen," said the General, "you are the d—dest fools I ever saw; I fought these people four years to make them carry the flag, and now you are mad because they wish to march under it."

A Chicago dispatch of the 11th says: "The mechanics and laborers who were in Government employ at Rock Island, and who struck on the promulgation of Secretary Schofield's order that only eight hours' pay was to be given for eight hours' work, are gradually returning to their work. Large numbers of them have called upon General Rodman and asked to be reinstated in their situations. In most instances they were received back again. A few who committed an assault upon Mr. Ruby, who refused to strike, have been rejected. In a few days nearly all will be at work again.

Farmers in Minnesota carry tubs and water pails into their fields to contain the potato bugs, which they pick off as they would so many berries. In some instances the bug crop is larger than the yield of potatoes.

SUFFERING IN SPAIN.—The distress in Spain is said to be appalling. Travelers from Madrid give fearful accounts of the wretched condition of the people, especially at the station of Villa Robledo, where trains are literally besieged by hordes of emaciated, half naked beings, who beg for bread, not money.

Spain is in a disturbed condition. The whole country seems disquieted, and every effort is necessary, on the part of the government, to prevent riots and outbreaks.

New Elgin, Illinois, it is stated, has in its vicinity a forest of pine and birch, the trees twenty feet high, and "raised from the seed," where ten years ago, was to be found only a shrubless prairie.

A fire in St. Paul, Minn., on Saturday, destroyed the Universalist church and several stores and other buildings. Five blocks were burned, all frame buildings. The total loss is $30,000, mostly insured.

A Russian paper announces the death of a woman named Tartar bek Nazarof, of Tiflis, at the advanced age of one hundred and twenty years.

Mr. John Robinson, an old citizen of Monongahela county, Va., was stung to death by bees one day last week. Mr. Robinson resided two miles east of Morgantown.

A case of trichina in Omaha is reported. Mrs. Lamb ate some fresh killed pork, and was very soon taken ill. The pork was afterward examined and found to be filled with parasites.

One of the negro parties, into which San Domingo has been constantly divided, has asked Spain to assume the protectorate of the Island, but Spain refuses.

The New York Board of Health reports more than 250 cases of death in that city from the effects of excessive heat within the past three or four days.

HILLSBOROUGH, N. C.

Wednesday, Aug. 26, 1868.

All those indebted to this office for subscriptions, advertisements, or job work, are earnestly requested to make immediate payment. Our necessities require it, and our advanced age admonishes us of the propriety of settling up our affairs.

The Legislature of North Carolina adjourned on Monday morning last, until the third Monday of November next.

An interesting incident took place in the Senate on Saturday. A fine gold watch and chain was presented to the Hon. Todd Caldwell by Mr. Robbins, a gift from the members of the Senate, as a substantial token of their kindly sentiments and regard, which he had won by the uniform courtesy and impartiality with which he had presided over that body.

A resolution was passed by the Legislature of South Carolina last week, directing that in all incorporated towns no discrimination shall be made of race or color in the appointment of police.

We are gratified to learn that the President has ordered the release of Messrs. Tolar, Powers and Watkins, sentenced to death by Military Commission at Raleigh for the alleged killing of a negro guilty of rape, which sentence was commuted to fifteen years imprisonment by Gen. Canby.

Advices from Idaho state that Judge Shaffer, demomocrat, has been elected to Congress by six hundred majority.

The Hon. W. B. Jons, Elector for Grant and Colfax in the 4th Congressional District in Alabama, has written a letter throwing up his Electorship, and taken the stump for Seymour and Blair.

The Hon, Thomas Masterson, Representative from Lawrence county in the Legislature, has also abandoned Grant and Colfax, and declared his intention to support Seymour and Blair.

The Crops.—A gentleman who has lately traveled through Rockingham, Guilford, Forsyth, Stokes and Surry, informs the Danville Times that the corn crop in those counties is the finest he has ever seen.

One of our citizens has lately visited Person county, and informs us that the crop of corn there looks better and promises a larger yield than any for many years past.

And in Orange county, as far as we learn, the prospect of a first rate crop is very fair.

And the Milton Chronicle of Thursday last says: "In view of the excellent wheat crop already saved, and the immense corn crop likely to be realized, there is some prospect of a poor man once more getting a taste of cheap bread."

DEDICATION OF CARUSI'S HALL.

The Jackson Democratic Association having rented this extensive Hall in the city of Washington for their head quarters for the present Presidential campaign, it was dedicated for that purpose on Thursday evening last, by the assembly of an immense number of the citizens of Washington, and a brilliant display by the Seymour and Blair clubs.

At the opening of the proceedings a letter was read from the Hon. Amos Kendall, Postmaster General under Gen. Jackson, and for many years a prominent and influential member of the Democratic party.

We have not room for the whole letter, but we give below the concluding portion of it, which is well worth a careful perusal.

After the letter was read, the meeting was addressed by the Hon. Montgomery Blair and others.

Has any man, worthy to be trusted in public life, read so little of history, or studied human nature so unprofitably, as to believe that the white people of the South are to be pacified by being thrust out of the pale of the Constitution, and subjected to the absolute power of their lately emancipated slaves? Has ages of oppression made Ireland love England? Has oppression and massacre reconciled the Poles to the domination of Russia? Human nature is the same everywhere. Reduced to despair by oppression, the oppressed will resort to desperate remedies. Nay, where all hope is lost, they will sooner rush upon death itself than live degraded and dishonored lives. If there be any people in the world who will not submit to hopeless oppression, it is those who have been raised under the free institutions of the United States. Let each voter of the North ask himself how he would feel, and what he would do, if an usurping Congress were to deprive him of the rights of a freeman, and subject him in life, liberty and property to the absolute control of ignorant and penniless negroes. As he would answer that inquiry, so let him act. Let him not wonder that notes such as he himself might utter under like circumstances reach his ears occasionally from the South; and let him ask himself whether he is prepared by his vote to reproduce in this continent the conduct of England towards Ireland, and of Russia towards Poland. No man of sense and intelligence can expect peace in the South so long as a large portion of the white population are excluded from all participation in their own government, and exposed to be plundered and oppressed by their late slaves, led on by adventurers from the North. They laid down their arms in good faith; they gave up their slaves; they surrendered the principle for which they had fought; they accepted the poverty to which they were reduced; and they sought only to be allowed the privilege of free and loyal citizens under the old flag. This President Lincoln, and President Johnson, following in his footsteps, desired to concede to them. The former fell by the hands of a rebel assassin; the latter has been ferociously hunted by another class of assassins. The policy of the two Presidents was identical; and yet our Radicals, with singular inconsistency, deify the dead Lincoln and crucify the living Johnson. Why is this? Lincoln is out of their way, and they would profit by his virtues; Johnson is a lion in their path, and they would destroy him for his fidelity in attempting to protect the Constitution.

What sort of peace is to be expected in the South so long as white people are proscribed and negroes allowed to govern, may be safely inferred from the condition of those reconstructed States—Louisiana and Tennessee. Their Governors and Legislatures are calling for military aid, avowing their incapacity to maintain peace and enforce the laws by the civil authorities. If this be so, it is conclusive proof that Congressional reconstruction, as a means of tranquilizing the South, is a failure. The road to peace is in another direction. Let Congress retire within the limitations of the Constitution. Let them abolish their test oaths and remove all their disabilities. Let them restore to the President his legitimate functions, and allow his pardons to have their constitutional effect. Let them strengthen instead of weaken the judiciary, and sustain it in its full exercise of its powers, for the protection of both the white and the black.

Wipe out as with a sponge all your ex post facto legislation, and restore to all the States their constitutional rights. Do this, and you will have peace. The men whom you now hold disfranchised and have pushed to the verge of despair will become your sureties for the preservation of peace and the restoration of order.

Reverse the picture, and what are the prospects of this country? Attempt to sustain these negro governments by force, and you reduce the proscribed white men to despair. Your army instead of being reduced, must be doubled. The taxes, instead of being diminished, must be increased. If Congress cannot (as they have not) prevent an increase of our frightful national debt in times of peace, what mountains must be added to it by a renewal of war? And in the anarchy which must ensue, what is to become of our republican institutions? Are we, like the people of so many other republics which have lived and perished, destined to seek for repose in the arms of a military despotism? I implore my countrymen to look the dangers of the crisis in the face, and so use the power left to them as to secure union, peace, and prosperity, without further resort to proscription or the sword. These views come from one who warned the South against secession as the road to ruin, but in vain; from one who warned the Democratic party against yielding to the counsels of a few leaders who were lukewarm, or worse, in support of the war for the Union, but in vain; from one who thinks he sees the fatal results of persistence in Radical reconstruction as distinctly as he foresaw the results of secession, and the effects of Democratic policy during the war; from one who wants nothing from his Government but to be protected and let alone; from one who must soon be summoned before his Maker to account for the manner in which he has discharged his duties to his God, his country, and his fellow men. As ever, a Jackson Democrat,

AMOS KENDALL.

Hayes City, Aug. 20.—The body of Bill Comstock, the famous scout, is just brought in. He was murdered, on yesterday, by the Indians. Eighty Indians drove off one hundred and ten mules, within one mile of Fort Hayes on yesterday. The Indians are retreating towards the Arkansas river. The military and volunteers are in hot pursuit. The Indians abandoned several white children in the woods, but have still six white women prisoners.

Corn Crop.—It is said there are 36,000,000 acres of corn growing in the United States this year, 300,000 acres more than last year.

Washington, Aug. 21, P. M.

A circular letter, issued from the War Department, includes the following extracts from the Army Appropriation Bill, passed at the last session of Congress:

"Be it enacted, That all militia forces now organized, or in service, in either of the States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Texas, be forthwith disbanded, and that the further organization, arming or calling into service, the said military force, or any part thereof, is hereby Prohibited, under any circumstances whatever, until the same shall be authorized by Congress."

The publication of this extract is intended as an explanation of the refusal of Secretary Schofield to furnish arms to the militia of the Southern States, on application of the Governors, and for the information of officers of the Army, now on duty in the South.

Money Orders.—My attention having been recently called to several losses of small sums of money by mail, I would take this method of again calling the attention of the Public to the fact, that it is desirable for all parties, remitting money by mail, to buy money orders, where they can be obtained, and, where they cannot, all letters containing money should be registered.

A. JOBE, Special Agent.

Honduras.—The Louisiana planters who have settled in Honduras and engaged in the culuvation of sugar are reported to have been very successful. One planter, it is said, has made this season nearly half a million pounds of sugar, the work of rolling being still in progress. The work of opening new plantations is going on, coffee as well as sugar receiving attention. One man who has begun an extensive plantation intends to build a light railroad over it to obviate the necessity of using mules and oxen for transportation.

The Montgomery Mail gives a report that Governor Smith, of Alabama, will soon issue his proclamation for an election for Presidential electors and Congressmen at the regular time for election in November. The election, it says, will be conducted precisely as the old code directs, except that those hitherto disfranchised must file their application with the probate judge of the county before voting.

The Butler Zouaves, who set out from Washington as a guard of honor to the remains of the late Thaddeus Stevens, it seems were sent back after getting into Pennsylvania by the managers of the pageant, because it was found their presence was distasteful to the white republicans and citizens generally. They are represented as not being well satisfied with their experience on the occasion.

Hail.—A destructive hail storm passed over the lower part of Caroline county, Md., on Sunday. A gentleman who had been to Concord camp-meeting, was struck by it on the road, about two miles from Dover bridge, and says it made great havoc with the corn crop in that vicinity. The hail, he says, was as large as guinea fowl eggs.

Mr. Trimble, brakesman on the Rutland and Washington (Vermont) railroad, told a friend last Tuesday morning that he dreamed the night before of being killed by falling from the cars; and that day he was so killed.

Not long ago a man at Austin, Texas, made some remarks derogatory to the ladies, for which Sergeant George Bryne, of the 6th United States cavalry, knocked him down. For this the ladies of the city have presented the Sergeant with a silver cup.

It is reported in New Albany that two men, brothers-in-law, had a difficulty near Valonia, Jackson county, Indiana, on Saturday, resulting in the death of one of them. The survivor was at once pursued by a mob, seized, and hung upon the spot. The names of the men are not given.

On Monday last several pieces of rock broke loose from the side of Lookout Mountain, near Peep's Springs, Walker county, Ga., and, rushing down, struck the dwelling of Mr. George Acrofts, instantly killing Mrs. Acrofts and an infant child. Three other children were also injured, but not fatally.

Italy has realized thirty-two million dollars from the sale of Church property in eight months. It is more than a third above the original estimate.

It is reported that a bee raiser in Windham, Me., during two months and a half of 1867 obtained 488 pounds of honey from two swarms of bees. The youngest swarm made 35 pounds in three weeks during September, which is considered a beautiful yield for the season.

There are five hundred newspapers in New York State.

A Fearful Incident.—A letter from Fort Larned to the Leavenworth Times tells the following: A most fearful and appalling circumstance transpired at the fort last evening. While a party of ladies and gentlemen were sitting in front of the beautiful quarters of Col. Ed. Wynkoop, Indian superintendent or agent of several warlike tribes, the entire party commenced a beautiful song. While the melody was ringing in the night air, a monstrous, shaggy and rabid wolf dashed madly in the midst of the party, first attacking Lieut. Thompson, Third United States Infantry, tearing and lacerating his limbs in a most frightful manner. The monster broke away, pursued by Col. Wynkoop, and his chief scout, James Morrison, who had lost no time in procuring proper arms. Before either of these fearless gentlemen, however, could overtake him, the wolf had attacked the sentry at the guard-house, whom he also bit savagely, the sentinel having fired, but, most unfortunately, missed his arm. From the guard-house the wolf next dashed over to the hospital, and made an assault upon one of the men there stationed, almost tearing his right arm from his body, after first taking off a finger entire. He then attacked and mutilated a colored soldier of the Tenth Cavalry and, subsequently entered the quarters of the laundress, while she was in bed, but, owing to the thickness of the bed clothes, fortunately failed to inflict any serious injury on the poor woman. The maddened creature next caught sight of the sentinel at the hay stack, who, almost providentially, shot him dead. Besides Lieu. Thompson, there are three persons badly bitten and mutilated by this monster.

Heartless Desertion.—Three months ago a widow woman named Susan Cannon, with three children, girls, the eldest of whom is about twelve years of age, and a mother ninety-odd years old, was living comfortably on a farm of her own, near Dumfries, on the Potomac river. Her little farm was well stocked, and by hard work she managed to provide amply for her dependent family. At that time a man named Samuel Trundle, hailing from Washington, made her acquaintance and married her. By means of false representations he induced her to sell her property and come to Alexandria. Having possessed himself of the proceeds of the sale of her sacrificed farm, he brought her and her family to this city last night on one of the Occoquan steam scows, and immediately decamped, leaving her with her daughters and mother on the wharf, without one cent in the world and with no shelter or provisions. The poor woman is nearly distracted, and has the sympathy of all who are familiar with her unfortunate circumstances.

The Growing Corn and Cotton.—It is pleasant to record the prospect of a fine crop of breadstuffs. Unless some unforseen disaster occurs "the staff of life" will be abundant throughout this entire section; while the indications are that no such crop has been raised in the South for many years. In our own immediate vicinity, the farmers will strip fodder in a few days, and if no storm should occur before the 1st of September, the grert danger from that source will be averted.

The cotton crop is, in like manner, good; and will prove remunerative, at fair prices, to the planter. Newbern Jour. of Com.

John Putnam extinguished a gas light in Portland, Maine, with his breath, instead of the stop-cock, and died from its inhalation the other day. He was a peddler, and belonged in Newcastle.

Registration in Raleigh.—Messrs. Ballard and Hill, the census takers for the city of Raleigh, return a population of said city of 6,278—of which number there are white, males 1,358 and 1,559 females; black, males 1,451, and 1,910 females,—and 310 dogs.

Church Burning.—We published last week an account of the destruction by fire of the new Episcopal church, in which was a fine organ, at Bacon's Castle, Surry county, Va., which took place about the first of the month. The same night a church belonging to the freedmen, at the same place, was also burned. On Friday night, the 7th, the old Colonial church, at the same place, was burned. This is all the work of some desperate and devilish incendiary, whose motive is not easy to divine.

Fifteen hundred miners of the Mahoning Valley, Ohio, who have been on a strike for nearly four months, have agreed to resume work. The strike is a failure with them, they not receiving the additional 20 cents per ton demanded.

SIXTH JUDICIAL DISTRICT.

The Superior Courts in this District, will be held as follows:

Guilford County, the first Monday in March and September.

Rockingham, the second Monday after the first Monday in March and September.

Caswell, fourth Monday after the first Monday in March and September.

Person, sixth Monday after the first Monday in March and September.

Orange, eighth Monday after the first Monday in March and September.

Chatham, tenth Monday after the first Monday in March and September.

London, August 21.—Despaches were received in this city to-day, giving the particulars of a heart-rending calamity which occurred in North Wales yesterday afternoon, whereby twenty-five persons lost their lives.

A train of cars from Holyhead, containing passengers and mails from Ireland, which was proceeding toward Liverpool, at the usual rate of speed, met with a sad accident at the little town of Abergelo, in the county of Denbigh.

A long train of loaded petroleum trucks had just been switched off on the siding, to make way for the Irish mail train, but the switchman had neglected to replace the switch. A dreadful collision was the consequence. Seven persons, passengers on the Irish mail train, were killed outright, and many others badly injured. The cars in both trains were reduced to a shapeless mass. The concussion produced an explosion of the petroleum, which instantly enveloped both trains in flames. Before the fire could be subdued eighteen persons had been literally burnt to ashes.

FORWARD.—The granaries of the West, we are glad to see, are to be largely poured into the lap of this great centre of trade and commerce. We hear, since the harvesting commenced, of large shipments of grain from the famers, by the lakes and by rail, to New York, and the expectation is that no small quantity of all this will be forwarded to Europe. A fair cotton crop—say 2,000,000 bales—and large shipments of breadstuffs, with pork, hay, and other articles, to go forward, will tend to keep down the price of gold. But for the extravagance and follies of Congress, we might at least hope to keep our debt from increasing. N Y. Express.

SUPPRESSING BARBAROUS RITES.—A suttee, or the burning of a widow alive on the funeral pile of her husband, has recently been attracting great attention in India. The British government, however, has shown its determination to punish all the participators in such barbarous rites. Of the friends of the widow who were present on the occasions, fourteen were transported for life, thirty for ten years, and eleven others were to be imprisoned for five years.

KENTUCKY ELECTION.—Returns from all but five small counties in Kentucky, for Governor, show the result to be: For Stevenson, democrat, 111,451, and for Barker, republican, 25,526; democratic majority 87,925

IMPORTANT INVENTION.—A Southerner is now in Boston who has invented a machine for reducing the cane of the Florida canebrakes to fibre, and this fibre he thinks he can put down in Boston at two cents a pound. It is claimed to be equal to cotton rags for the making of paper, and superior to Manilla hemp for the manufacture of cordan.

STATE IN MINNESOTA.—Recent explorations shows northern Minnesota to be one of the most remarkable slate regions in the world. The slate ridge is some twenty odd miles in length, and six in width.

GOING EAST.—A stove merchant of Troy, New York, has received an order from the wife of an American missionary in Siam, for a first-class cook-stove, to be sent to that distant county for the use of one of the princesses of that kingdom.

Two droves of cattle that were purchased last summer, in Texas, and driven all the way to Loudoun, to be postured, passed through Leesburg last week, on their way to the Baltimore market. They were in excellent condition, and averaged over twelve hundred pounds a head.

The British cruisers captured eighteen slavers off the coast of Africa last year, with three hundred and thirty-three slaves on board.

In Michigan, recently, 35 men went into a harvest field to cut grain. About 10 A. M., not less than 16 of them had been sun-stricken, the majority of whom died under the exposure.

Last week the body of a Mrs. Gamble, a resident of Clarkstown, in New York, was privately interred in Greenwood. Circumstances led to the belief that she had been poisoned by her husband, and the corpse was accordingly exhumed and subjected to a chemical analysis. The result justifying a warrant of arrest, one was accordingly issued, but the officers to-day state that he can nowhere be found. The deceased is said to have owned $100,000 worth of property in her own right, and had frequently expressed her intention of leaving a large portion of it to her brothers, who reside in this city.

Judge Ould, of Virginia, the late Confederate Agent, has published a letter in the National Intelligencer, in which Gen. Grant is made wholly responsible for the refusal of the U. S. Government to exchange prisoners during the war, and, consequently, for the sufferings of the U. S. soldiers in Southern prisons.

The bugs are said to have stripped whole potato fields in Ohio, leaving nothing but the naked stems—from these they assailed cabbage leaves and other vegetation—while the grassh ippers had levied on the clover fields, cabbage, potatoes, oats and timothy, laying low every stem, and leaving the fields as bare as a floor.

A "shark dog-fish," thirty feet long, was captured near Eastport, Me., last Sunday.

Obituary.

Died, in this place, on the morning of the 21st inst., of Brain fever, RENA, only daughter of Jesse and Emeline Hedgpeth, in the third year of her age. Thus a mother's joy and a father's pride is snatched away from earth to join the bright Angels, in heaven, who praise their God without ceasing, and now another sweet voice has joined them, in their joyful anthems. She being gentle and interesting, won the love and affection of all who knew her. It is not only to her parents comes this sudden and unexpected blow, which has left a void in their hearts, but in another's where it can never be filled. Farewell, little Rena; no more pain or sickness will fall on thy devoted head, but with thy dear little brother who has gone before thee, and now welcomes thee with tee angelic host, thou art gone to rest in the heaven of the blest forever more. "The Lord gave and he hath taken away, blessed be the name of the Lord."

Thou hadst a little Rena once,
Who was thy joy and pride;
You loved her, ah! perhaps too well,
For soon she slept and died,
Thou hast laid low they idolized one,
The pride of thy household, thy treasure is gone;
A dark cloud of sorrow has shadowed thee o'er,
Thy Rena is sleeping to awaken no more.

The National Intelligencer
FOR THE CAMPAIGN.
A VALUABLE CAMPAIGN PAPER.
Circulation of Political Information.

THE Campaign upon which we have just entered is by far the most important and momentous in which the people of our country have ever been called upon to participate. The life of the nation, the liberties of the people, the rights of persons and property, are all in jeopardy. An unscrupulous faction in Congress has usurped all the powers of the Government. The people alone have the power in their hands. To do this promptly and effectually they need all the information that can be furnished to them.

There never was a time when the necessity for the dissemination of sound poiltical information was so great as at present. The journals which furnish this information should be sent broadcast throughout the land, and be put into the hands of every voter in every State, county, town, village, precinct and hamlet, in every household from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

To supply this need we have concluded to put the WEEKLY INTELLIGENCER for the campaign at such a price as will place it within the reach of all.

It will be supplied to Clubs of ten or more to the same Post Office at Fifty Cents per copy for the Campaign, or for four months prior to January 1, 1869.

Published at Washington City, the great political centre of the country, we enjoy peculiar facilities for obtaining and presenting to our readers the earliest and most reliable political information, and to keep our patrons thoroughly posted in regard to events of political importance.

We call upon our friends throughout the country to exert themselves to push this circulation of the Campaign Weekly Intelligencer to the fullest possible extent. If they will do this service, we pledge ourselves to do our part of the work with all the energy and ability and industry we can command.

TAKEN IN EXCHANGE FOR GOODS.

THE undersigned would respectfully call the attention of his friends, and the public generally, to the fact that he has opened business at the Latimer Old Stand, with a New Stock added to his former purchases.

Being comparatively a stranger, he is determined to sell Goods, for Cash and Barter, at the lowest possible figures, that he may extend his acquaintance in the business, and also enable the people to live through these hard times as easily as possible.

He has no desire to get rich off of an impoverished people, only wishing a support from the profits. With these motives, and his small per cent. on goods, he flatters himself of a fair proportion of custom.

Come one, come all, with Barter or Money,
With Chickens, or Rags, or Butter and Honey.

THE CAROLINA FARMER.

BELIEVING that the interests of the Farmers and Planters of this section demand the publication of a periodical devoted to the advancement of Agriculture in the two Carolinas, we have determined to establish such a periodical under the title of THE CAROLINA FARMER, and will issue the first number as soon as a sufficient number of subscribers are obtained to pay a reasonable share of the expense of publication.

The Farmer will be issued monthly at $2 per annum, in advance; will contain not less than thirty-two large double-column pages of reading matter, bound in handsome covers; and in typographical execution will not be surpassed by any Agricultural Monthly in the country.

Being determined to do whatever energy will accomplish in making the Farmer worthy the support of the intelligent Planters and Farmers of North Carolina and South Carolina; and desiring to introduce it into every county in those States, we wish to employ active Agents at every Post-office, to whom the most liberal inducements will be offered.

Our exchanges in the two Carolinas will confer a favor, which we will be glad to reciprocate, by giving this announcement a few insertions in their advertising columns, with such editorial comment as they think the probable value of such a periodical as we propose publishing may justify.

Address all communications to
